

SUMMER SCHOOL of Archaeology

The summer school of archaeology in Abruzzo is an academic programme offered by University of Pisa in collaboration with Soprintendenza per I Beni Archeologici dell' Abruzzo.

OBJECTIVES:

The aim of this programme is to increase awareness and competencies about archaeological and methodological issues. The school will provide all participants a deep knowledge of European archaeology with particular focus on Italian archaeology.

THE PROGRAMME:

The course will be 4 weeks and it will be articulated in three main parts to provide students with theoretical knowledge and methodological tools:

Lectures, Laboratory, Field-activity.

Lectures will focus on:

- Archaeological methods and techniques
- Geomorphological and landscape analysis of sites
- Itc applications on archaeological data
- Archeometry
- Prehistoric archaeology
- Roman archaeology
- Experimental archaeology

Laboratory activities will allow students to develop their competence on:

- Procedures for cleaning, consolidation, restoration, labeling, inventory and cataloguing of materials
- Graphic, photographic and written documentation
- Digital processing of the acquired data

12 July – 9 August 2015 - Abruzzo (Italy)

Field-activities will be carried out in two different sites:

S.STEFANO (5800-5400 BC) is an open air site, situated in the north-west corner of Fucino basin. In the site have been found evidence relevant to a very important settlement that, on the basis of materials and radiocarbon dates, is attributable to the Impressed Wear Culture of Adriatic early Neolithic.

ALBA FUCENS was an ancient Italic town at the foot of Monte Velino. The site was occupied by a Roman colony (304 BC) owing to its strategic importance. After the second Punic war became a place of detention for important state prisoners.
